

THE GUEST BOOK OF THE MANUSCRIPT CHAMBER AT DVŮR KRÁLOVÉ

Or: Science between candle wax and data curation

Matthias Melcher

The Manuscript of Dvůr Králové (Königinhof an der Elbe) remains a relevant topic of research more than two hundred years after its discovery and around one hundred and fifty years after its exposure as a forgery. The guest book of the manuscript chamber at Dvůr Králové, where the manuscript was found, has recently been made available in digital form, thereby offering new perspectives for analysis of the manuscript and the history of its discovery. Augmented with the corresponding metadata, for example, the records enable geographic visualisation of the origins of persons who visited the manuscript chamber – as well as opening up numerous other avenues for research.